Summary of the Rate Case

On January 31, 2019, Con Edison filed for new electric and gas rates to be effective beginning January 1, 2020. According to the filing, the Company's primary goals are to build the infrastructure needed to provide safe and reliable electric and gas service at a reasonable cost while implementing new state-of-the-art technology to better serve its customers. Con Edison asserts that it is focusing on three objectives to achieve its goals: 1) public and employee safety; 2) operational excellence; and, 3) enhancing the customer experience.

Proposed Rates:

An electric or gas bill consists of two parts: delivery and supply. The delivery charge is the cost to transport the electricity or gas to customers throughout the utility's system. This delivery charge is regulated by the Commission. The supply charge is the cost of the electricity or gas itself. This cost is determined by the competitive markets and is not set by the Commission or the utility.

Con Edison's proposed rate request is designed to increase the Company's annual electric delivery revenues by approximately $485 million (an 8.6% increase in delivery revenues, or 4.6% increase in total revenues). The Company is also seeking to increase its annual gas delivery revenues by approximately $210 million (a 14.5% increase in delivery revenues, or 9.1% increase in total revenues).

If the proposed rate requests were to be approved, the Company estimates that the electric delivery revenue increase would result in an average monthly delivery bill increase of $7.74, or 8.6% (from $138.55 to $146.29), or an average total bill increase of 5.6% for residential customers using 600 kWh per month. The requested gas delivery revenue increase would result in a monthly delivery bill increase of $17.29, or 15.8% (from $109.58 to $126.87), or a total bill increase of 10.9% for a residential heating customer using 100 therms per month.

Major Rate Case Components:

- Information Technology (IT) – Con Edison proposes funding to replace, upgrade, or install new IT related applications including the replacement of its Customer Service System, upgrade its Outage Management System, and install of a new Enterprise Geographic Information System.
- Electric Equipment Replacement and Upgrade – Con Edison proposes funding related to the replacement and upgrades of certain transmission feeders and substation components to improve operational and environmental performance.
- Storm Preparedness - The Company proposes expenditures to increase storm resilience.
- Gas Pipeline Replacement – The Company proposes to replace 90 miles of leak prone pipe annually, as well as upgrade the transmission system from the Bronx to White Plains in Westchester County.
- Gas Service Line Inspections – The Company proposes additional funding to perform inspections related to updated definition of service line which requires Con Edison to perform comprehensive leak surveys and atmospheric corrosion inspections for inside meters.

PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT

The Commission strongly believes that obtaining public input is a critical component of the rate-setting process. An Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) will preside over the gathering of public comments and all evidence relating to the rate requests. The Commission must consider a utility's proposal and may adopt or reject it in whole or in part or modify it by adopting changes proposed by participating parties, the public or the Commission.
