Issuer Ranking:

U.S. Regulated Electric Utilities

The following list contains Standard & Poor's Ratings Services' ratings, outlooks, and business and financial profiles for regulated electric utilities. This list reflects the current ratings and outlooks as of Feb. 1, 2008. It also reflects recent alterations in how each company's credit profile is portrayed and how it is ranked in the list. Utility business risk and financial risk profiles are now communicated through the Standard & Poor's corporate ratings risk matrix (see the article "U.S. Utilities Ratings Analysis Now Portrayed In The S&P Corporate Ratings Matrix" published on Nov. 30, 2007, on RatingsDirect). Second, the two sub-sectors (transmission & distribution utilities and integrated utilities) have been eliminated from the list. Third, the rankings within each rating/outlook grouping (e.g., BBB+/Stable/--) are based on relative business risk instead of on overall credit quality, so that you can compare Standard & Poor's assessment of a utility's business risk to its like-rated peers.

A Standard & Poor's rating outlook assesses the potential direction of an issuer's long-term debt rating over the intermediate to longer term. In determining a rating outlook, consideration is given to any changes in the economic and/or fundamental business conditions. An outlook is not necessarily a precursor of a rating change or future CreditWatch action. "Positive" indicates that a rating may be raised; "negative" means a rating may be lowered; "stable" indicates that ratings are not likely to change; and "developing" means ratings may be raised or lowered.

Utility business profiles can be categorized as "Excellent," "Strong," "Satisfactory," "Weak," or "Vulnerable" under the credit ratings methodology applied to all rated corporate entities at Standard & Poor's. To determine a utility's business profile, Standard & Poor's analyzes the following qualitative business or operating characteristics: markets and service area economy; competitive position; fuel and power supply; operations; asset concentration; regulation; and management. Issuer credit ratings, shown as long-term rating/outlook or CreditWatch/short-term rating, are local and foreign currency unless otherwise noted. A dash (--) indicates not rated.
